The American Organization of Nurse Executives

NOMINATION FORM

The Daisy Award for Extraordinary Nurses recognizes the “super-human work nurses do everyday.” The program was established by the DAISY Foundation for the elimination of Diseases Attacking the Immune System in memory of J. Patrick Barnes. Mr. Barnes’ parents established the foundation in Patrick’s memory because during Patrick’s illness they experienced, first hand, the skills, as well as the care and compassion of many nurses. The award is given in many hospitals around the country and was started at Terrebonne General in 2003. If you would like to nominate a nurse here at TGMC please fill out the information below.

I would like to nominate _____, RN/LPN, as a deserving recipient of the DAISY award. This RN/LPN exemplifies the kind of nurse that the patients and families, as well as nurses, physicians and other members of the healthcare team recognize as an outstanding role model. The following scenario is an example of his/her patient care and ethics highlighting (as the DAISY Foundation terms it) the “super-human work done by nurses every day.”
